

Payment policy

When parents register their children with Extra time, they will be asked which payment method and timescales will be more beneficial to them. We do this to work alongside the parents, to ensure that we do not send out bills unnecessarily, which may cause a problem for parents.

We offer payments weekly, fortnightly, monthly or half termly. In advance.

Payments can be made either via childcare voucher scheme, electronically or straight into our bank account via direct debit or standing order, of which we will provide the necessary details when registered.

(we do NOT accept cash or cheques for payments)

Bills sent out and how to pay:

- 1) We only send out an invoice if you pay fortnightly, monthly or ½ termly. (not for weekly payments unless parents request one) if any changes have been made to bookings or times scales, these will be noted on the invoice. Such as 'if a parents brings their children earlier than what they are booked in for, a change to the fees for that morning will be made, and a comment at the side of that weeks payment will make reference to the early drop off'
- 2) If a payment has not been made by the date on the invoice, you will receive a reminder text message giving another date to pay by, approx 3 days, by which the payment must be paid or interest will be added at 3% per day, from the fourth day onwards until the outstanding balance is paid.
- 3) Any amendments that have to be made (such as the closure of extra time for the bank holiday for the queens funeral) will be adjusted accordingly and will be shown in the next invoice to the parents, whether that is that months, on the month after, dependent on when/why the adjustments are made.
- 4) The owner will monitor non payments: If the fees owed exceeds 6 weeks, she will contact the parents to arrange a meeting to arrange a payment plan to make the payments, if parents do not come in for the meeting, the owner will have no other option but to cancel all further bookings and will offer the place to parents on our waiting list, who require childcare and who are willing to pay for the service.

The fees that are paid are our only source of income, which pay our overheads and wages. If parents don't pay on time, the staff may not get paid on time.

We ask parents to confide in us if they are struggling to pay, and if they contact us straight away, Mandy Grosse (owner) will work out a payment structure that will be beneficial to both parties.

If payments are not paid regularly and on time, Extra time will take action to ensure all payments are made, which may also initiate a cancellation of bookings and further action being taken as we need to ensure that all of the childcare sessions which are booked, are paid for in full.

If ever we have to adhere to government guidance for any reason, (such as a pandemic) we may have to change our policy accordingly, but we will ensure that any changes will be fair changes, to sustain the business and work with parents at the same time
